

the interface observable needs no twin,
which halves the cost of a growth-rate study